COMMENTS ON THE GAME AND PLAYERS

To-night, if results are according to form, Luton Town should be at the top of the League Table, but so many curious things happen in football that one cannot rely on form study.

It is the game itself that counts, not what has gone before. On Merthyr Town's record Luton should win, but nine out of ten people must have thought that Millwall had but to go to the Welsh Town to bring away the points last Monday, especially as Southend had done it on the Saturday. But the 'Martyrs' won by the only goal of the match, and this victory will have given them heart for the fray to-day. London, the manager, is again keeping goal splendidly, and of course his shadow does not grow less. Woodward was formerly a half-back. Of the halves Bishop is a new player from Rochdale, and he is doing very well, and of the forwards Phillips only was with the club last year, and he played in only 16 games. Mitchell comes from Pembroke Dock, Bell and Pither from Torquay United, and Sutherland from Bristol City. Sutherland and Pither were at Millwall a few years ago, and the former in particular, we know as a very clever player.

PICTUREDROME.

"LOOKING FOR TROUBLE."

Marcella Day and Jack Hoxie are the stars in to-night's programme. "Looking for Trouble" is the latest Western production, in which Hoxie ventures single-handed into the stronghold of the diamond smugglers, and before the smoke of the battle cleared, he actually knocked two bandits out of the saddle, roped a third, and subdued the fourth after the hardest fist fight seen. Jack Hoxie is always certain of giving thrills in his pictures, and this is no exception. "The Flame Fighter" (chapter one) will be shown, and many valuable prizes are offered, such as 5 cwt. of coal free—a valuable prize these days.

"THE CIRCUS CYCLONE."

On Monday, Art. Acord, the popular Western star, is seen in the role of a cowboy falling in love in a circus passing through a Western town. The results are hair raising in their excitement. Acord dives from the "Big Top" to the back of a stampeding horse. Other incidents are a prize fight in the circus ring, a sensational battle on an automobile, a spectacular mob scene, and a rescue from a lynching. Mr. R. H. Garsfield is to make a personal appearance, and give his famous travelogue, "Canada." As a speaker of great experience and a traveller of renown, patrons can rest assured that Mr. Sarsfield will prove quite an interesting part of the programme. Many humorous incidents are given to illustrate points, and those who are interested in "Canada" will find Mr. Sarsfield a great authority on the subject.

GORDON STREET.

"SALLY, IRENE, AND MARY."

It is refreshing to look upon the work of a man who knows what he is about. Edmund Goulding, who has written and directed this story, showing to-night, discloses in every scene that he knows the life he depicts. The action is laid behind the scenes of theatrical life, while the staging of the interiors and the stage scenes themselves are in every way beautifully executed. Some people may call this a tirade against the stage, but we doubt if it is meant to be that. It is a study of three types, played cleverly by Constance Bennet, Joan Crawford, and Sally O'Neill. Its humour is simple but effective; its pathos very sincere, and its heroics very well restrained, so that the whole is a fine and virile piece of work.

IN LUTON.

"HER FATEFUL MARRIAGE."

E. A. Dupont has achieved a considerable reputation for dramatic realism—particularly demonstrated in his recent film, "Vaudeville"—and Felix Hollander's story, "Her Fateful Marriage," to be screened next Monday, gives him further opportunity for the production of a drama of which grim realism is the keynote. It is the story of the tragic climax to a marriage bargain. Lil Dagover has a typically strong emotional role as an ambitious woman conscience-stricken with a sense of moral guilt of murder.

HIGH TOWN.

For to-night the ever-popular "Charley's Aunt" will be shown. There is not another comedy in the world that can lay claim to the wonderful record it has had—first on the stage, where it is always a favourite, and, second, on the screen. Nobody can resist the laughter-making episodes of Syd Chaplin, who, undoubtedly, has not been seen in a finer comedy than this. As a means of restoring one from the "gloom" of life, whatever their trouble may be, it is undoubtedly a fine tonic for the mind, and enables one to see that after all there is gaiety and laughter to be had. "Charley's Aunt" has made millions of people "laugh until they cried," and will always be a firm favourite with both stage and movie fans.

EMPIRE.

"BULLDOG DRUMMOND'S THIRD ROUND."

It is good to see British actors like Jack Buchanan and Allan Jeayes, in an undeniably British story, Sapper's "Bulldog Drummond's Third Round," showing at the Empire Cinema this week. As is to be expected, there are many thrilling situations, and Jack Buchanan is a big, good-looking Bulldog Drummond, getting in and out of scrapes in nonchalant fashion. Austin Leigh gives a clever impersonation as Professor Goodman, and Allan Jeayes scores as Carl Peterson, the crafty one. Betty Faire and Juliette Compton are as charming as ever as the good and bad women in the story.

"MODERN MADNESS."

For the first part of next week, Corinne Griffith will be seen in a First National picture, "Modern Madness." The story is an attempt to treat from a different angle the so-called modernism, and is set in the mad pace of Parisian night life.
