LUTON v. READING.

Sat., March 10th.

Though our chances of promotion are now relegated among the shadows of things that might have been, our guests to-day have still a bare chance of returning to the higher circle in which they figured for a few seasons. Success this afternoon for Reading would give them renewed hope in spite of the long start Norwich City hold, and we may be sure they will do their utmost to hold their own. They were more than a trifle fortunate to beat us at Elm Park by such a margin as four goals to one, which was a repetition of last season's result, and we want to see also an improvement upon our result in the home game last season when two goals were shared.

Our team will be the same as at Watford, for Kingham is still feeling something of the hurt he received at Aldershot, but in any case, Harry Reece put up such a good game that he deserved his place this afternoon. May he continue to show that good form.

Reading have changed in a few positions since our visit to them in October, but Albert Hayhurst has never lost his place at centre-half, and we must congratulate our old player in making good in such a sound side. Whittaker hails from Rotherham, and was with Wolverhampton Wanderers before going to Elm Park; Ridley is a diminutive fellow, and has had a lengthy experience, but he is a bundle of energy and strength. He was playing for South Shields in 1920, and after seven seasons went to Manchester City, with whom he remained until this season. Rowe joined Reading last season from Manchester Central, as did Johnson, who had two seasons with Sheffield Wednesday, whither he went from the Ashington club. Hayhurst we know from association, and Wright had over ten years with Bolton Wanderers, for whom he became a professional in 1921. We have an idea that he played against the Town for Bolton in 1928 in the Cup-tie at Burnden Park. Fielding also was a recruit this season from Grimsby, and previously played for Stockport County. McGough has played for Reading and other clubs at Luton. Gregory was secured from Manchester City a fortnight ago, and Oxberry played for South Shields and Blackpool before joining Reading four seasons ago. Butler is another ex-Bolton Wanderer, and played for the Wanderers against us in 1928, being responsible for the goal just before the end which settled our Cup-tie hopes that season. He was in the Wanderers' team in 1929 when Fred Kean played for them and they lifted the Cup, and previously he had won two Cup medals.

We should have a first-class game this afternoon, but we hope to see our lads pull out their best, and if they do we should win.
