NOTES.

Easter-time in which we now find ourselves is one of the big testing periods of the football season. For many clubs it is very critical and for our part we require no reminder of this. The anxieties of Easter, 1949, when besides occupying a place too near the bottom of the League chart to allow for comfort, and fulfilling an almost unprecedented number of outstanding matches, there were the preparations for the Cup Final to be made. Our interest in the Cup went early this time, but to-day we have the no small consolation of a secure place in the League struggle.

This afternoon's visitors, Luton Town, have already begun their Easter programme. They visited Doncaster on Good Friday with hopes of eventually steering clear of danger raised by a valuable victory last week over lowly Bury. Luton made a lot of friends among Leicester football followers by the two thrilling and sporting Cup contests they waged with us a couple of seasons ago.

This season has been a very anxious one for them and bad luck from injuries has been partly the cause. Nevertheless, at different periods, they have made highly creditable endeavours to turn the corner. A smart "double" over Swansea Town at Christmas was an extremely valuable achievement; a win at Brentford and drawn games at such strongholds as Maine Road (Manchester), Meadow Lane (Notts.), and Southampton have at intervals helped to renew their hopes. Recently they ran the redoubtable Preston North End to an only goal decision at Deepdale.

Our match with Preston on Easter Monday, by the way, will be played in the morning (kick-off 10-45), but it will be an afternoon game for the return at Filbert Street next day.

The run of six League matches and two friendlies without defeat was halted by Swansea Town at the Vetch Field a week ago. But from all sides the team got credit, along with the winners, for providing a match that has been described as one of the best seen on the ground this season.

NOTES—continued.

It was certainly a thriller and with, for the most part, football of better standard than most could have dared hoped for on viewing the water that lay on stretches of the pitch before the match.

The set-back caused a drop of three places in the Chart but the tribute of being gallant, and in some respects unlucky losers, is no small grain of comfort,
