Will you agree with the newspaper reports of this match ?

There is one sure test of a newspaper's quality as a football paper—read what it says about a match you yourself attended. Make this test with the DAILY HERALD. You may disagree with the opinions expressed, but invariably you will agree that its facts are right. But the facts reported in the DAILY HERALD about a match are not just the obvious ones. A great part of the popularity of the HERALD as a sports paper comes from its reporting of the "inside" story.

Three men, more than any, are responsible for this superb service. They are George Follows, Steve Richards and Doug Weatherall. Read these three regularly, and you will agree they have no equals as accurate, vivid, revealing reporters of the game.

Gallowgate Gossip . .

Newcastle United are today sharing with Sheffield Wednesday relegation positions in the League. It is sad to see the team in such a position but they are still favourites, among the several clubs in danger of going down, to make a safety rise in the table.

The "Magpies" have two games in hand of Leicester City, Sunderland, and Sheffield Wednesday.

They also boast a better goal average to date.

But to rely on these undoubted advantages for safety would be foolish.

The bottom clubs in the League are all fighting hard to establish themselves and the games United have in hand do not mean a thing unless they are won or drawn.

The Easter rush of fixtures will no doubt bring changes in League placings and United have anything but an easy holiday programme.

At home on Good Friday to Manchester City they must rush off immediately after the game to play away at Blackpool and Manchester City.

It is from the remaining home games with Burnley, Manchester City, Arsenal and Leeds United that United's brightest prospects loom.

The players realise the position and they will fight as they did at Preston, with more just reward it is hoped, to get the club out of trouble.

Victory this afternoon is indeed wanted. United can beat Luton. They confounded the critics when they did so in November. In that away match they romped home great victors.

A double for the "Magpies" over the lads from Luton is on the cards.

They can win and set the seal of safety over Gallowgate if they are true to themselves for United are anything but a relegation side when showing top form, coupled with that smile from Dame Fortune that seems to elude them.

Into battle then this afternoon United and into battle, too, the voices from the terraces playing a big part in gaining that so needed home success.
