ERIC PUGH talking...

For me to look back over the Town's playing career during the last few weeks, almost seems like an intrusion on someone else's private grief, because they struck a patch similar to the one that dogged them throughout October and did not end until mid-November.

Only two points have come from the last 12 which has meant a slump in the League table causing slight anxiety about relegation, though there are no solid fears about that at the moment.

At the same time, the recent record has been untimely in that it upset two calculations for the remaining weeks of the season.

In the first place, Manager Alec Stock wanted to go some way towards retaining support that, frankly, has been disappointing this season, with a series of first-class displays that would ensure a considerable following.

Instead, since the defeat in the FA Cup at West Ham, very little has gone right though, to be honest, there have been times when the team has played well enough to have earned considerably more reward than has come their way.

In that respect, one has the memory of the first half display against Sunderland but, on that occasion, as has been the case in too many others this season, the inability to accept scoring chances led to defeat.

Second intention of the manager was to give first team opportunities to several young members of the reserve team whom he regards as good prospects and this, at the same time, would have given him the chance to assess whether they are likely to make the grade in League football.

Had the safety mark in the number of points gained, been reached, then this would have been easy to implement, but it can be seen that there is danger in making too many changes.

Thus, such as have been effected, and I write early in the week before the composition of the side for today has even begun to take shape, have been gradual and fairly isolated.

A couple of clear-cut victories would make all the difference to the position and be a great builder of confidence and one can only hope that the first of a series will come this afternoon.

For Watford, closest and oldest rivals of the Town, this has been a season of almost unrelieved disaster and they come here with nine consecutive defeats behind them, something that has more or less sealed their fate of relegation.

Of course, there is danger to the Town in this, because no team goes on losing for ever, but the plain fact is that if the Town play as well as they did for rather more than half the match with Sunderland and, at the same time, make the most of their scoring opportunities, then there will be no doubt about the outcome.

Football is a strange, complex business. Only a couple of months ago, after a fine win over Millwall, people were talking in terms of the Town having a slight outside chance of making a late bid for promotion.

Their display in defeat at West Ham confirmed that, but then came the setback at Fulham which may have shaken them more than seemed likely at the time.

It is not for me, on this particular platform to discuss the why's and wherefore's, but let it be said that no one is more disappointed at the way in which things have shaped than the players and those most closely responsible for their activities on the field.

With some justice it can be said that they have scarcely had their share of that undefinable quality, luck, which plays such an essential part in the game and, certainly, the ball has rarely run kindly for them.

on TOP of the World

Luton Town Reserves are setting a fierce pace to win the Midweek Football League title this season. Town, who opted out of the Football Combination a couple of years ago, have been leading the table in the last few weeks and appear to be getting stronger, match by match, under the guidance of trainer Ken Whitfield, the former Wolverhampton half back.

We interrupted his training schedules to quiz him on the side's success. "The lads have put together a far superior goal average than any other side," he said "They might have had it sewn up by now but for being beaten by the odd goal on five or six occasions.

"It was a simple case of lacking strength up front. But Mick Gilchrist and Terry Robinson have come through from the Youth side to increase the striking force on a permanent basis, was enthusiastic about the progress of Alan Garner, whom Luton snapped up within 24 hours after Millwall gave him a free transfer, and youngster Nicky Sparks, another who has stepped up from the Youth side.

"It's a good thing to have a successful reserve side, pushing for recognition, because it prevents any complacency creeping into the first team. I don't doubt for a moment that if the call came for any of these lads to join the League side they would acquit themselves without any problems. The problem is ... just getting them the chance."

The advantages and benefits of playing in the Midweek League are principally that Alec Stock can see his "shadow" men every week and any first-teamer who wants an extra match, without missing the vital one on a Saturday, can also slot in and out without any problem.

and it will have to be a good team to stop Luton winning this title.

"We have a fine crop of prospects who have been learning all the time in the company of skipper Ken Goodeve, Jimmy Ryan, and Robin Wainwright, all of whom have valuable first-team knowledge. Peter Wood has just left us on a month's loan to Southend, for whom Gerry Jones, our midfield and right winger from Barry Town, recently guested."

WATFORD

This has been a cruel season for George Kirby in his first year as manager of Watford and it will need an outstanding effort to lift the Vicarage Road club away from relegation in the last dozen games of the season.

As near-neighbours of Watford — and admirers of their Third Division Championship in 1969, when we finished in third place — it has been disappointing to see Mr. Kirby's efforts constantly dogged by injury problems. This factor, more than any other, is responsible for Watford's record of only four wins this season — and one point from 14 away matches.

When we visited Vicarage Road back in November, it seemed that a revival was on the way after a 2-1 win against The Hatters and a similar success over Burnley the following week. But, in the next 12 matches before meeting Millwall last Saturday, The Hornets managed only one point and had suffered their ninth consecutive defeat when losing at Sheffield Wednesday a fortnight ago.

Indeed, their goal in a 2-1 tumble against Wednesday was their first in over ten hours of football since new signing Pat Morrissey had scored in the last minute of his debut to secure a shock 1-1 draw at Norwich on December 11th.

It has been a heartbreaking experience for George Kirby, who, less than a year ago, finished his first season in management by taking Halifax

Town to third place in Division III and within four points of promotion. His stock was still sky-high when the Yorkshire club beat Manchester United in this season's Watney Cup, but, on the eve of the League programme, he was tempted to accept Watford's offer for him to succeed Ken Furphy.

His second managerial appointment within 12 months was rather in keeping with his widespread experience as a player. He served six League clubs as powerful centre forward — Everton, Sheffield Wednesday, Plymouth, Southampton, Swansea and Walsall — and finished off his playing days with New York Generals.

He then returned to England as coach at Halifax and succeeded his "boss" when Alan Ball Snr. moved on to Preston. Both men eventually left Halifax because they were attracted by brighter potential elsewhere, but fate has turned sour on Mr. Kirby.

In this troubled season, he has bought five players at a cost of £80,000 and took two others for loan periods. On the outgoing side, he received a big fee from Orient for wing half Tom Walley and also released winger Charlie Woods to Colchester.

Because of defensive worries early in the season, the new manager strengthened this department by buying Everton goalkeeper Andy Rankin and Wolves' centre half David Woodfield — two players with plenty of First Division experience. But Woodfield was put out of action by cartilage trouble almost as soon as he got to Watford and Mr. Kirby had little better luck when arranging the loan of Hull City centre half Bill Baxter. He, too, was bothered by injury for some time.

As the team's plight at the foot of the table worsened by December, Mr. Kirby moved in again with successful offers for two experienced forwards, Mike Kenning (Charlton) and Pat Morrissey (Chester). But no player has scored more than three goals in League games this season — particularly disappointing for Ron Wigg after topping the list with 13 Second Division goals last term.

The resulting loss of confidence has spread through the team and the defence was breached badly in the early days of the New Year. The first three games in January saw Watford trounced 5-0 at Blackpool, 3-0 at home by Charlton, and then 4-1 at Vicarage Road by Third Division Notts County in the FA Cup. Since then, they have also crashed 4-0 to Hull.

But we have received reports of Watford playing good football without any luck. The only consolation for George Kirby is that the Watford public have appreciated his problems and are behind him as the last, vital days of the season come along.

meet the captain and his team

Bottom-of-the-table battles are nothing new to Watford skipper Keith Eddy. In his early days with Barrow, they were usually fighting to avoid having to apply for re-election and, in fact, they finished in the last four in successive seasons in the early 'sixties.

Those hard times weren't in evidence when he made his League debut for Barrow, though. It was in 1962/63 and they were then pushing strongly for promotion for the first time in their history. In the end they finished ninth but the following season they were bottom — thus beginning the struggling days for Keith.

There was a complete change of atmosphere after his transfer to Watford during the 1966 close season. The Hornets were on the point of launching their first big drive towards promotion to Division Two and he was ever-present as they very nearly succeeded.

Victory in their last game at Oldham would have ensured promotion. But they drew 1-1 and Middlesbrough pulled ahead of them.

They went close again the next year but in 1969 they finally made it as Third Division champions and Keith, again, was an ever-present member of their team.

Watford have spent their entire period of Second Division service fighting to stay up. Last season Keith was shocked when, as skipper, he was one of several players axed following a disastrous home F.A. Cup replay against Oxford but he played himself back into the side within a month and maintained his position as Watford's penalty king, converting four spot kicks.

Though Watford's present position looks extremely grim, one man who believes in the while-there's-life-there's-hope philosophy is skipper Keith Eddy who will be driving his men as hard as ever today.

JOHN WILLIAMS

DAVID BUTLER (Full back): Born Stockton. Played in over 200 first-team matches for Workington before leaving for Watford in November, 1970. While at Workington, he played with former Watford manager Ken Furphy and he was signed by Mr. Furphy for the Vicarage Road club.

DEREK EDMONDS (Goalkeeper): Born Newcastle. First turned professional with Leeds United, but played in 30 First Division games in the previous two years.

RAY LUGG (Midfield): Born Jar-row. First turned professional with Middlesbrough, where he played in 34 League games before joining Watford for a five-figure fee in November, 1969.
LARRY McGETTIGAN (Forward): Born Hackney. A useful prospect who has matured from Watford's apprentice ranks. He became a full professional in December, 1970, and, after joining the first team on a trip to Czechoslovakia last August, he came into the League side early this season. Scored his first goal against Cardiff.
PAT MORRISSEY (Forward): Born Eire. Came to England to join Coventry City. After a few first-team games there, he had a spell with Torquay United, and then came to the fore with Crewe, where he was top scorer with 20 goals last season. Transferred to Chester last October and, within two months, he was on the move again to Watford for £8,000. Scored on his debut at Norwich.
KEN OWEN (Forward): Born Bangor. After completing his apprenticeship, Watford took him on the full pay-roll in November, 1970.
MICHAEL PACKER (Forward): Born London. Another product from the apprentice scheme, he turned full professional in April, 1968, and made his debut during Watford's Third Division Championship season. Had made 34 appearances by the start of this term.
JOHN PEARCE (Full back): Born Watford. Was on Watford's books for several seasons as an amateur and then switched to part-time professional in July, 1969.
ANDY RANKIN (Goalkeeper): Born Liverpool. Former England Under-23 international who made 85 First Division appearances for Everton before joining Watford for £20,000 played in the background during his five years at Elland Road. Joined Watford in May, 1970, and played in 11 League matches last season.

JOHN FARLEY (Forward): Born Stockton. Played in North Eastern football with his home-town club before accepting professional terms with Watford in July, 1969. He came through to make his first-team bow last season with 11 appearances.
COLIN FRANKS (Half back): Born Wembley. First joined Watford as an amateur and then turned professional at the beginning of 1969-70, in which he started his Second Division career with 11 games. He also scored a brilliant goal against Stoke City's Gordon Banks in the FA Cup.

BILL JENNINGS (Forward): Born Hackney. Another former amateur who switched to the full-time staff in April, 1970, and broke into Second Division football last season. Played several times for the England Amateur Youth XI.
MIKE KENNING (Winger): Born Birmingham. Watford became his sixth League club when he moved from Charlton for a five-figure fee on December 31st. He started his career with Aston Villa, but had only three senior games before going into the Third Division with Shrewsbury, who later picked up a sizeable fee from Charlton. Then he moved to Norwich and Wolves, costing £20,000 plus each time, and returned to Charlton in 1969.

WALTER LEES (Centre half): Born Glasgow. Spotted playing for Kilsyth Rangers in Scottish junior soccer and proved an excellent "import" after joining Watford in June, 1968. He has played around 100 senior games.

JIMMY LINDSAY (Inside forward): Born Hamilton. Signed from West Ham for £20,000 just before the start of this season. Graduated through West Ham's junior ranks and played in 30 First Division games in the previous two years.

RAY LUGG (Midfield): Born Jar-row. First turned professional with Middlesbrough, where he played in 34 League games before joining Watford for a five-figure fee in November, 1969.
LARRY McGETTIGAN (Forward): Born Hackney. A useful prospect who has matured from Watford's apprentice ranks. He became a full professional in December, 1970, and, after joining the first team on a trip to Czechoslovakia last August, he came into the League side early this season. JOHN PEARCE (Full back): Born Watford. Was on Watford's books for several seasons as an amateur and then switched to part-time professional in July, 1969.
ANDY RANKIN (Goalkeeper): Born Liverpool. Former England Under-23 international who made 85 First Division appearances for Everton before joining Watford for £20,000 last November. Displaced Gordon West at Everton last season when he played in 28 League games and also helped the Goodison club reach the semi-final of the FA Cup and the quarter-final of the European Cup.

ROY SINCLAIR (Forward): Born Liverpool. Originally on Liverpool's books, but established as a League regular in over 130 games for Tranmere Rovers. Moved to Watford in March, 1969.

MIKE WALKER (Goalkeeper): Born Colwyn Bay. Experienced player who served York City and Shrewsbury before transferring to Watford in September, 1968. He has been capped by the Welsh Under-23 side and was also on stand-by for the last two Home International series. Toured New Zealand and the Far East with Wales last summer.

DUNCAN WELBOURNE (Full back): Born Scunthorpe. The longest-serving member of the Watford staff, he is now in his ninth season at Vicarage Road. He moved from Grimsby Town in November, 1963, and has played in just over 500 first-class games for his two clubs.

RON WIGG (Forward): Born London. Was once rejected by Orient, but made the grade with Ipswich Town and appeared regularly in the First Division in 1969-70. Then Watford stepped in with a £20,000 bid and Ron was their top scorer with 17 League and Cup goals last season.

JOHN WILLIAMS (Full back): Born Tottenham. Another experienced defender who was promoted from Watford's apprentice ranks in September, 1964. He has made nearly 300 first-team appearances.

DAVID WOODFIELD (Centre half): Born Leamington Spa. Joined Watford for £25,000 from Wolves last September, but was unluckily struck down by cartilage trouble. He played in over 250 senior games for Wolves.

LUTON in ACTION

After setting the pace in the first half — and missing our chances — we trailed 1-0 at half-time to promotion-chasing Sunderland and then the Roker men put recovery out of reach with a second goal after 74 minutes. Chris Nicholl pulled a goal back near the end, but too late to save a disappointing home defeat.

Talking to Keith BARBER

Luton Town proved third time lucky for Vauxhall-born Keith Barber when Alec Stock spotted the potential which two other First Division managers had earlier so obviously undervalued. From a personal point of view, it is a good thing this 1971 trialist caught the eye at Kenilworth Road to sign last season, because, had Keith failed to impress the Luton manager, goalkeeper Barber could have been lost to League soccer for good.

Keith, who has more than doubled last season's appearances in the first team this term, told us in between training schedules that before he joined Luton he had virtually given up hope of ever making the grade. "Both Chelsea and Southampton had invited me for a couple of games in their shadow squads. But, for no particular reason as far as I could determine, I was never recalled and I had settled down to playing for fun with Wandsworth in the Surrey Senior League when it all happened."

Tracking back to the source of the Barber bid for fame, Keith began his exploits between the posts with South London Schoolboys and local club sides in the Balham & District League. "But I didn't earn any boy-wonder medals," he said. "When the time came for me to start a career, I staked my future in a less attractive but more certain direction and I began a five-year apprenticeship as a lift engineer."

Keith has since qualified in this respect. But during the time that he spent on extra studying and additional training courses, he regularly looked forward to the Saturday afternoon break when he used to pull on a goalkeeper's jersey. "Yet, before I came to Luton, I didn't earn a single penny out of football — and it's now nice to think that I already have a trade to fall back on when football decides that it has paid me all it is going to give."

It was the eagle eye of chief scout Harry Haslam which put Barber en route for Kenilworth Road. This 24-year-old London product spent a probationary period with Dunstable Town in the Southern League before he joined Luton on a permanent basis at Easter last year — at the age of 23!

Any number of current League teams have as many as half a dozen with three or four years experience in the senior side at such a time in life. But being a late starter does not worry Keith Barber, even though he admits that he nearly "took off" on his debut because of the pre-match butterflies. "What made it worse for me was the fact that the club had to rush through special registration papers for me to be eligible to keep goal against Sheffield Wednesday. Only a few weeks earlier I had been in the Surrey Senior League and, hey presto! there I was keeping goal for a team shaping up as First Division material. But I'm pleased to say that from the minute the referee whistled the game into action, I was back to normal. At the present-day pace of soccer, you don't have time to think about anything else than the job to hand."

Keith spotlights the special attributes which all top goalkeepers must have in their make-up when he says that to be a first-rate 'keeper one must have superb mental powers — as well as being physically sharp.

"It's a position where the older you are, the better you should be able to play — within certain limits, of course. A goalkeeper is not really at his peak until he is 27 or 28, because it needs years of experience to extract the arts of one's duty from perhaps a mere ten minutes of action each match."

We know that it is more difficult for a goalkeeper than any other player to find a permanent spot in a premier League side. If the break comes for Keith Barber and he is fortunate to command a regular spot, it is unlikely that he will let anyone down and, what is more, he could prove in a couple of seasons that both Chelsea and Southampton were wrong.

The determination of a boy's father and the memory of manager Jimmy Scoular gave CARDIFF CITY an outstanding prospect for the future. He is 18-year-old former Scottish school-boy international Billy Kelloch, who in the space of seven days made his League debut and played in two Cup replays against Sunderland, scoring one of the winning goals.

Kelloch, a tall, strong midfielder, was one of the many signings made by Tommy Docherty for Aston Villa Park three years ago. He arrived in Birmingham in company with two other Scottish schoolboys, but was released after one season. "I felt I wasn't making any progress," said Billy, who was then booked to sign for Morton, until his father posted a letter to Cardiff asking them to consider his son.

Over to Mr. Scoular for the rest of the story. "I first saw him playing in a schoolboy match in Scotland," recalls the Cardiff boss. "When he went to Villa, I suppose I more or less forgot about him. But, once his father had written to me, I sent our Scottish scout to see the family and Billy was asked to join the ground staff. There was no need for a trial."

Kelloch was soon a member of the Cardiff side which reached the final of last season's FA Youth Cup and Mr. Scoular talked of him as a first-team challenger earlier this season. And, when the chance came, it was odd that he should be filling the place of another Villa "cast-off", Mel Sutton, who has recently had an operation

Those members who read Alec Stock's first weekly feature in the Luton News will recall his criticism at the small number of people to be seen wearing club badges. This is something we can all rectify quite easily, so at the next home game against Burnley let all members be seen wearing their badge. If, of course, you still haven't got yours, you will be receiving one with our newsletter during the next few days.

Have you obtained your tickets yet for our Grand Buffet Dance at the Civic Centre, Dunstable, on Thursday April 13th? If not, now is the time, you could win a Sky Tours holiday. Don't delay too long, for you may be disappointed, as the demand is brisk. Prices are: members £1.00 and non-members £1.25. Tickets can be obtained from:

DIVISION II ROUND-UP

Flashback to July, 1969. Aston Villa pose for their pre-season photograph. Billy Kelloch, now starring for Cardiff City, is sat on the ground and marked by a circle. And the other two "rings" pick out the Rioch brothers, Neil (back) and Bruce (seated), only a few weeks after their six-figure joint-transfer from Luton Town.

Things certainly change quickly, don't they? Bruce, you may be interested to hear, is skipper of Villa's Third Division promotion challenge and playing his best football for the club. Neil also had a couple of games this term, scoring twice against Blackburn, but is now on a month's loan to York City.

SUPPORTERS CLUB NOTES Continued

It is hoped in the very near future to commence the running of evening Bingo sessions. If there is anyone with experience in the organisation of these sessions who is prepared to either help or offer advice, would they kindly call in at the Club Shop during match days or write to the Secretary, 9 Stuart Road, Barton.

Committee members are required to assist in the running of various activities. If anyone is interested in contributing some of their spare leisure time providing some worthwhile help, then please call in at the Club Shop during match days.

The Junior Supporters meetings each week in March are all being held on a Tuesday night. Details of the month's planned events are on: March 7th - Games Night, March 14th - Films (Football and Cartoons), March 21st - Games Night (for under 14), Disco (for over 14), March 28th - Games Night. Coming events for the seniors in the Hatters Club during March are: discotheques on: Wednesday March 1st & 8th, Thursday March 16th & 23rd, Wednesday March 29th.

the unsung hero

The oil filter. Hardly the romantic part of a car. But without a filter you can rapidly reduce even the most perfect engine to a tortured misfiring mess. And the same is true if you don't bother to change a filter with a fair degree of regularity. But most oil filters are much of a muchness. So if a filter fits it must be OK. So fit the cheapest. This is a popular misconception that has ruined the life of many a poor innocent engine. Because some cheap oil filters are frankly little better than no oil filter at all. In this life you get what you pay for. AC filters are not the cheapest money can buy. Sometimes a whole 5p piece more than the cheap ones. But if an AC saves the life of your engine maybe you'll think the bob was worth it. From Halfords and all good garages.
