CHANGES DON'T ALWAYS HELP FORM

ALTHOUGH the result of the game against Newcastle isn't known at the time of going to press, we will have to have played a lot better than in the match at Orient, where we gave our worst performance of the season to lose 4-0.

The score could even have been higher; John Chiedozi gave a brilliant display for Orient on the wing, and we were lucky to get away with the scoreline as it was. I've got to criticise myself for the performance because it's up to me, as the manager, to get things right. I've made changes in the team, which don't always help form, but you can't have a settled side when games aren't going well.

I left Simon Westwell out against Orient because although he's done tremendously well in the three matches he's played in, I didn't think it would help him to continue in the team while we're going through a bad patch. Graham Bell was also rested but he shouldn't be out of the team for long; he's been working hard but things haven't been going right for him, so a short rest would probably do some good.

As I've said before, we've got to work harder at our game, but that doesn't mean just running. It's no good being long-distance runners if we're not doing anything with the ball when we've got it. Orient probably did less actual running than us last week but they played a whole lot better.

Confidence counts for a lot; if we'd stuck away chances in our earlier games it would have made the situation a lot easier, but I don't want to make excuses. We're looking up the table at teams who we know we're as good as.

That's one of the reasons why our crowd figures are only around the 6,000 mark.

We can't expect people to come and support us in big numbers when we're not producing the goods. We've got to give the fans something to cheer about, but we do need the ones who do come on to get behind us and cheer us on.

Today's game against Luton should prove an entertaining one. They have always been a fluent attractive side and they score a lot of goals. Their manager David Pleat has done a very good job for them and they only just missed out on promotion last year so they should provide good opposition.

A Wembley visit

SINCE August 1977 Wembley Stadium have been running highly successful Guided Tours, and over a quarter of a million visitors from home and abroad have passed through the turnstiles. The tour has proved an ideal outing for families and organised parties seeking an alternative to the more conventional tourist spots.

The tour includes viewing the trophies; a short history of the Stadium; an audio visual presentation; the dressing room - kitted out for match day; walking up the players' tunnel to the edge of the pitch and then up the 39 steps where the cup is presented, culminating with a seat in the Royal Box and free light refreshments in our souvenir shop. Sound effects also greet visitors at various points on the tour.

SECOND ENCOUNTER

HAMMERS SUCCESS

THE publicity given to West Ham's European Cup game against the Spanish club Castille behind closed doors has tended to obscure the magnificent recovery which enabled the Hammers to turn a 2-goal first leg deficit into a 2-goal advantage on aggregate. Leading the way with a hat-trick was DAVID CROSS, who is currently the most prolific striker in the country. The Castille game was the sixth in a row in which David has found the net.

LEAGUE CUP

West Ham are also one of the five clubs carrying the Second Division banner into the fourth round of the League Cup and they are in fact one of the four clubs with a good chance of reaching the last eight. They face Third Division Barnsley at Upton Park while giantkillers Watford and Cambridge take on Nottingham Forest and Coventry respectively and Notts County (at Manchester City) and Preston (at W.B. Albion) have difficult away games.

SURVIVAL AT THE TOP

The clubs promoted from Division Two last season have not found things going all their own way in Division One, but Birmingham and Sunderland seem both to have the necessary qualities at least to survive. Birmingham have recently drawn four games in a row while Sunderland have made up for rather indifferent home form by being unbeaten in away games up to the time of writing.

Leicester, however, look none too secure at present. Though they beat Liverpool 2-0 in August they have lost two successive away games by a 5-0 margin during September.

COMING GOOD

On the other hand Burnley, one of the teams relegated to Division Three last season, show every sign of getting in on the promotion race. Six games without defeat recently were climaxed by a fine 5-0 win over Millwall with this season's new striker STEVE TAYLOR getting a hat-trick.

Charlton, however, are having a bit of a struggle, recently suffering four successive defeats including a League Cup defeat by West Ham. Fulham too are proving less successful than their Rugby League counterparts and have recently lost three games out of four.

BACK HOME

Bristol Rovers must be glad to be going back to their home ground at Eastville and also to have reached the beginning of October. For not only were they without their fire-damaged ground during September, but they scored only two goals in seven games during the month and also went out of the League Cup to Third Division Portsmouth.

HOOLIGANISM give us your ideas

A PLAN to combat hooliganism by banning fans from travelling to away matches has not been met favourably by most Northern clubs, Preston included.

The idea originated from Daily Mail sports writer Jeff Powell, who drew up a 7-point scheme to rid England's soccer stadiums of the thugs who have done so much damage to our national game.

Banning fans from away matches was one of the measures suggested in his plan, and the Mail held a survey of 1st and 2nd Division clubs to find out what their reaction was. Of the 42 clubs questioned, it was mainly the Southern clubs who approved, while only Leeds of the Northern outfits were in favour.

Commenting on the proposal, Preston manager Nobby Stiles said, "I don't know the answer to hooliganism, but I think it's more of a social thing than anything else. I was brought up in a rough area but my grandparents could still walk the streets at night, whereas now nobody can, for fear of being mugged".

"But if they brought in a system to ban fans from travelling, I think it would kill football dead. Right now we have a hard core of about 6,000 supporters but we can't pay our wages on those sort of attendances. We rely on teams like Newcastle, West Ham, and, locally, Blackburn, to boost our gates. In addition to that, it gives the players a better atmosphere when they're playing in front of a big crowd.

"I think that clubs and their fans should come together more and help the fans to identify with their team, but I don't think it would be any good to turn them away. When our supporters travel, and that especially includes the London and Kendal supporters clubs, they're always well-behaved".

GEOFF ALLMAN PUTS THE SPOTLIGHT ON Luton Town

10 YEARS AGO

THOUGH they have not quite maintained the promise of their opening game when they shocked F.A. Cup winners West Ham by beating them 2-1 at Upton Park, Luton Town are still a very useful side and they could well end up amongst the top half dozen teams in Division Two for the second successive season.

Founded in 1885, Luton had a 3-season spell in the old Division Two between 1897 and 1900, but they did not come back to the Football League to stay until 1920 when they were founder-members of Division Three (South).

SUCCESS

There they stayed until 1937 when they embarked on the most successful period in their history, climbing to Division Two in that year and then reaching Division One for the first time in 1955. 1959 saw them reaching the F.A. Cup final in which they went down 2-1 to Nottingham Forest.

DECLINE

Then came decline. They fell back to Division Two in 1960, to Division Three in 1963 and then in 1965 they became only the second side (Brentford were the first) to have slipped from Division One all the way to Division Four.

ATTRACTIVE

To their credit they continued to battle away and by 1974 they were back in Division One though they stayed there for only one season.

At this stage they had severe financial problems, which they bravely weathered and in the last five fluctuating seasons they can take pride in the fact that they have often been amongst the most attractive Second Division outfits, as they have finished successively seventh, sixth, thirteenth, eighteenth and sixth.

They have in recent seasons tended to fall away after the turn of the year and it was a spell of seven games in a row without a win in February and March last season that ultimately cost them promotion as they were just four points short at the end.

THIS SEASON

Apart from their opening-day win at West Ham, Luton have picked up a point at Grimsby this season and have also beaten Watford and Orient at Kenilworth Road. They have, however, lost at home to Derby, crashed 3-0 at Blackburn and have gone out of the League Cup to Manchester City after knocking out Reading.

WE suffered a setback in our efforts to stay amongst the Third Division front-runners when going down 1-0 at Halifax on October 17, 1970. Former Aston Villa man BILL ATKINS got the goal in the first half for a team just below us in the table, the lineups being:

HALIFAX: Smith, Burgin, Buxton, Robertson, Pickering, Wallace, Chadwick, Atkins, Brierley, Lennard, McCarthy.

PRESTON: Kelly, Ross, McMahon, Spark, Hawkins, Spavin, Wilson, Irvine, Ingram, Heppollette (Lee), Hughes.

Attendance 5,922

Torquay were now challenging Fulham at the top of our Division having beaten Brighton by dint of a FREDDIE GOODWIN own goal on the previous evening.

Leeds dropped a home point to Manchester United at the top of Division One, both JACKIE CHARLTON and BOBBY CHARLTON finding the net. In Division Two Hull stayed ahead of Leicester by dint of a 2-0 win over Swindon and TED McDOUGALL helped Bournemouth stay top of Division Four by getting the goal that earned a point against Aldershot.

SCENE AND HEARD

BRADSHAW

HEARTS' boss Bobby Moncur was at Liverpool's midweek European Cup-tie.

He was watching Keith Armstrong and Hugh Smith, who played for Finnish side Oulu Palloseura.

BRADFORD CITY have named 19-year-old centre-back Peter Jackson as skipper - but it is a role he may not occupy for long. Everton and Bolton have been checking.

SUNDERLAND have checked on Peterborough's leading scorer Joe Cooke.

BLACKPOOL are ready to unload with full-backs Paul Gardner and Terry Pashley, forward Peter Noble, midfield men Bobby Doyle - who cost more than £100,000 - and Brian Smith, likely candidates for a move.

The injury to striker Paul Fletcher halted a £35,000 deal with Portsmouth.

Manager Alan Ball has been looking for strikers and asking about Swansea's Alan Waddle.

Meanwhile Alan Ball senior, back from a successful managerial stint in Sweden, is expected to join Blackpool's backroom staff.

SHEFFIELD Wednesday have been checking on Everton midfielder man Trevor Ross.

EVERTON are maintaining their interest in Rochdale striker Mark Hilditch.

TEETOTALLER Gordon Lee has won a gallon of whisky as Manager-of-the-Month. It's the fourth time he has won the award.

Other awards: John Lyall (West Ham); Bobby Saxton (Plymouth) and Billy Bremner (Doncaster).

WOLVES have six days left to write the finish to the long-running Peter Reid transfer serial... or pull out of the deal.

That's the deadline set by the League tribunal.

There were further moves last week to find a solution to clinch the deal which has fallen down because Wolves cannot agree with Bolton's £650,000 valuation.

There was another snag when Bolton disagreed with Wolves over the price for winger David Thomas.

If the situation isn't sorted out by Saturday, Reid should sign a provisional contract with Bolton on the League's recommendation.

STAR VISITOR

HELPED by the fact that he is such an immaculate penalty taker David Moss has become a major scoring force since moving to Luton Town and at the time of writing is just one goal short of his century of Football League goals.

A native of Witney, he made his debut for Swindon Town when going on as substitute in a Second Division game against Hull City in January 1972 at a time when Dave Mackay was manager of the 'Robins' and DON ROGERS was in their front line.

By 1973/4 he had won a regular place, playing in a fluid role between midfield and attack. Though Swindon were relegated to Division Three at the end of that season David went from strength to strength.

He took over as the side's penalty taker and netted twice from the spot en route to a hat-trick in a game against Colchester in November 1974.

His tally for that season was 16, a tally he easily beat two seasons later when he chalked up 21 and helped his side to take Everton to a fourth round F.A. Cup replay.

His 20 goals in 1977/8 included another hat-trick against Oxford and then in May 1978 came his 6-figure move to Luton. This landed him back in Division Two and in an explosive debut he netted twice in the 6-1 win over Oldham on the opening day of the season. Late in that first season he scored his first goal against us to earn the 'Hatters' a 2-2 draw here and he followed up by converting a penalty against us at Kenilworth Road last October.

In his most successful season to date he totalled 24 goals last season and at one stage seemed likely to be shooting his side to promotion. Nowadays he usually plays a wide role up front and his tally of well over a hundred league and cup goals in just over 300 games makes him a man to keep an eye on today.

20 YEARS AGO

FOR the third successive game we kept a clean defensive sheet when beating Blackburn 2-0 here in a First Division game on October 15, 1960. PETER DOBING hit post early on, PETER THOMPSON was continually prominent but again it took an own goal this time by MATT WOODS, who miscued and ALEX ALSTON centre, to put us into the lead.

Incredibly Matt did the same thing after the interval to leave us with two welcome points that lifted us almost to halfway up Division One. Teams: PRESTON: Else, Cunningham, O'Neill, Fullam, Singleton, Wylie, Alston, Thompson (T), Thompson (P), Sneddon, Lambert. BLACKBURN: Jones, Bray, Taylor, Clayton, Woods, Newton, Douglas, Dobing, Dougan, Crowe, Daly.

First Division leaders Spurs, who had dropped their first point of the season to Manchester City in midweek, romped home 4-0 at Nottingham Forest and in a day of high scores Burnley beat Manchester United 5-3 and Newcastle and Wolves shared 8 goals at St. James's Park.

Sheffield United won a top of the table battle in Division Two, with BILLY RUSSELL getting then winner at Ipswich and in another high scoring game Charlton won 5-3 at lowly Brighton.

CLOUGHIE GETS SHIRTY

IN the Daily Mail on Friday 3rd October, Notts Forest Manager Brian Clough was quoted :-

"I'm fed up to the eyeballs with Television. They upset me because I don't want them telling me what I can and can't wear on my shirts. I'm not saying which game I'm taking the decision for, but one day, whether the cameras are coming or not, we'll be wearing the name of our sponsor. And if they don't want to transmit, they can get their vans off our car park".

Cloughie has, as usual, put his finger on one of the games most controversial disputes - Shirt Sponsorship.

Preston North End, of course, were the third Football League Club in the country to negotiate a Shirt Sponsorship deal last year when Pontins agreed a two year package.

Liverpool and Everton being first and second.

Since then Forest, Derby, Brighton, Blackpool and others have followed the trend.

It seems ludicrous to me that both Television Companies, still refuse to allow Clubs to appear before the cameras with their Sponsors name on their shirts.

To Clubs like Liverpool and Forest who are on one channel or the other almost every week, it means their Sponsors names won't appear too often!

Also it's obvious that a Club could certainly demand higher Sponsorship fees if they could display their Sponsors names on their shirts for televised matches.

During the last few weeks both ITV and BBC have showed 'snips' of European action from Spain, Germany and Belgium etc with continental sides displaying Sponsors names on their shirts.

In my opinion the whole situation is ridiculous and the television companies should realise that times have changed and Sponsorship is now Big Business in Sport.

I applaud Brian Clough's statement and if other Clubs follow his lead the matter will, I'm sure, be resolved pretty quickly to the benefit of Football League Clubs.

CONTINUING the theme of the third team in football i.e. the referee and his linesmen, let us look at some aspects of running the line. Remembering that the linesmen operate to instructions.

The most important point I have to make is that the lineman does not make decisions. He only indicates to the referee. The referee makes all decisions.

100% concentration is the hallmark of a good linesman. He can't run around and approach problem areas on the field, as the referee does. He must stay on the line and help to keep control from there. When I say there he is in fact move restricted because if the play is in the other half of the field a position on the half-way line is taken up. If play is approaching his half, a position in line with the second rearmost defender is taken up. The reason being to detect attacking team

Whistle Stop by Eric Hart

players interfering with play or opponents, when in offside positions. This is where concentration comes in. He must keep in line with this second-most rear defender and yet watch for the ball going out of play for a throw-in, corner-kick and goal-kick. He must also look out for unfair play in his vicinity. Notice the words his vicinity, not the referee's. The point is he has got to have what I call 90° vision, i.e. to look across the field panning round to looking down his own touch line. All this at the same time. I can assure you that if he is running down the line it's an almost impos-ible task to keep everything in view. The best place to see everything is sitting in the stand, up there you have panoramic view of most of the field of play and also you are sat still. The poor old linesman is moving and has this limited vision because of the nature of his job.

Get up with play linesman, come on linesman you saw that, get your flag up linesman etc are the comments made by you spectators, but really you don't know what is going on and besides you are biased whether you like it or not.

Linesmen take up positions because they are told to and they must not wander or be pulled out of position. If the referee is in the vicinity of play the linesman must not interfere unless something happens on the blindside of the referee.

Basically the linesman operates and indicates for incidents that happen in his quarter of the field and then only if the referee has not seen the incident. More often than not they have, no matter where incidents happen on the field of play. The real art in running the line is to run it for the referee, indicate when he would want you to. Try and be on the same wave length as him and give him all the co-operation without interference as you can.

To sum up the linesmen's duties are:

a) Look out for players in offside positions who are interfering with play or an opponent, or who are seeking to gain an advantage by being in an offside position.

b) To watch for the ball travelling out of play, who played it last, and how it is to be returned i.e. throw-in, goal-kick or corner-kick.

c) Assist the referee by indicating incidents of unfair play or misconduct in his vicinity on the field of play.

DRIVING FOR SUCCESS

WHETHER North End's away games take them to Blackpool or Bristol, the players are always in safe hands with coach driver Jack Turner behind the wheel.

Jack, an avid P.N.E. supporter, has been driving the team around the country for the last seven years since his firm Mercer's have had the contract.

Although he is a lifelong follower of the club, driving on Saturdays meant that he was not always able to go to home matches. When the contract came up, then, Jack jumped at the chance.

"I've seen plenty of matches, and of course seen plenty of players come and go", he says. "The present squad are a great bunch of lads, we always have a few laughs wherever we go."

"Sometimes they're a bit quiet after a defeat, but they don't let it get them down for long. They've already had a telling off in the dressing-room but it's all over by the time they get on the coach".

The journeys are not without their funny moments, especially the overnight stops. "Anything could happen when Mickey Elwiss and Roy Tunks got together", he recalls. "They barricaded George Warr and I in our bedroom one night".

One of Jack's colleagues drives the Blackburn team coach, so quite a bit of rivalry exists between the two. Jack doesn't have many doubts about who are the better side, though. We're a bit up and down at the moment, but I think we'll finish higher up", he smiles.

30 YEARS AGO

WE extend our winning run to five games in a row when beating Leeds 2-0 here in a Second Division match on October 14, 1950. At first we could make little headway against a quick-tackling defence in which JOHN CHARLES was outstanding, but we gained the ascendancy towards half-time and took the lead when a TOM FINNEY shot struck Kerfoot, the Leeds defender and flew wide of goalkeeper Searson. EDDIE QUIGLEY got a second after the break and the teams were:

PRESTON: Newlands, Walton, Scott, Docherty, Mattinson, Forbes, Finney, Horton, Wayman, Quigley, Morrison.
LEEDS: Searson, Dunn, Milburn, Kerfoot, Charles.

Burden, Williams, Iggledon, Dudley, Moss, Hughes.
Attendance 32,000

We were now in fifth place, four points behind Second Division leaders Manchester City, who beat Brentford 4-0 with DENNIS WESTCOTT netting twice. Hull also stayed in the promotion race with a brave goalless draw at Chesterfield where DON REVIE gave a great display as emergency goalkeeper for the second week running after an injury to Billy Bly.

Meanwhile in Division One an own goal by England man HENRY COCKBURN set Manchester United on the way to defeat at Highbury where Arsenal strengthened their hold on top place with a 3-0 win.

CONTROVERSIAL CORNER

If a martian landed at Upton Park.

A MARTIAN, who had suddenly landed in the neighbourhood of Upton Park recently would have imagined that football is a game (a little like bowls perhaps) which requires such immense concentration that sounds and other distractions from spectators have to be kept to a minimum and that watchers should be as few as possible. For our Martian would have seen police being paid to keep spectators away from the ground and would have learned that except for a few minutes it could not be shown on television.

What a shock for the Martian then when he learned in due course that football is desperately short of spectators and can only survive in its present form if it attracts sufficient paying fans. The people suffering on that particular night were the fans who were ready to pay for the pleasure of seeing their team in an important European match. The few hooligans who caused the trouble in Spain were not suffering since their only link with West

Ham was that they found there a convenient outlet for their sadistic passions. They would be able to find plenty of other outlets.

If our Martian investigated a little further into this strange phenomenon called football he would find a Second Division manager Arfon Griffiths suspended from sitting on any touchline because of expressing his opinion on one occasion about the apparent shortcomings of a referee. He would also find that a referee who failed to allow a goal to be recorded in the recent Crystal Palace v Coventry game even though it passed quite fairly between the posts and without any offence being committed, is readily allowed to continue to take control of games.

The Martian would also be made to wonder just what 'dissent' involved since it is the one offence that everyone seemed to regard as far more serious than any kind of physical foul. He would also wonder why, with football clubs desperate to attract more spectators a large number of them are in the process of making ground alterations so that there will be room for fewer spectators and that in the vast new grandstands there will be seats available for fans, many of whom prefer to stand up and who cannot in any event afford the high prices charged for seats.

With a bit of luck, however, our Martian might actually see a game of football which he could enjoy and that would compensate him for the above anomalies.
