LIKE Liverpool, Luton Town and quite a few other clubs, Queen's Park Rangers have had to play a waiting game in the FA Cup. All being well, in 90 minutes' time they will know where they have to travel for their fourth-round tie . . . and, from our point of view, it is to be hoped that their destination will be Anfield. That all depends, of course, on us getting the better of Luton.

One thing I can say with absolute certainty about tonight's delayed replay—and it's this: the Liverpool players will certainly relish the fact that they can hear the supporters giving them plenty of vocal encouragement!

It was a strange experience two weeks ago, going out to start our defence of the trophy we won last May and knowing that not only had we to contend with the opposition and on artificial turf, but that all the cheers would be for the home team.

There was also the knowledge that on our

PICTURE-PUZZLE WINNER

THERE was a difference of opinion about the identity of the referee in our recent Picture Puzzle contest. Some entries voted for Keith Hackett, others for Lester Shapter, and still others for David Hutchinson. The majority vote was for Neville Ashley—and that was the right answer. The first correct entry received came from Keith Stanton, 4, Hillview Gardens, Woolton, Liverpool L25 7XE, and his reward was two tickets for the Today League game against Newcastle United. If you fancy your chances of winning in our Picture Puzzle contest, try your luck on Page 12 . . .

previous visit to Kenilworth Road towards the end of October, we had been soundly beaten as Luton Town scored four goals to our one . . . and we recognised, also, that we had not done ourselves justice by any means on that occasion.

So it was satisfying to go back to Kenilworth Road two weeks ago and hold the Hatters on a pitch with which they are most familiar and in front of a crowd which could only be partisan, although we knew, too, that Liverpool fans in their thousands were watching us in live action, via television, and willing us to get a result.

Having said that, let me make one point. So far as playing on artificial turf is concerned, the simple fact of the matter is that we prefer to play on real grass. But we accept that we've got to adapt to different conditions at places like Kenilworth Road and Loftus Road. In the tie at Luton, we had a couple of escapes, and we survived in spite of everything.

Now, however, things are what you might call back to normal: our own pitch at Anfield, and our own fans giving us plenty of backing. So the Liverpool players can ask for no more, and you can be certain they will respond by giving everything to ensure that when Saturday comes, we'll be lining up against Queen's Park Rangers.

TONIGHT'S replay will be only the fourth meeting between Liverpool and Luton Town in the FA Cup, and perhaps it's somewhat surprising that our paths have crossed so seldom in all the years that the competition has been going. The first time that the clubs were paired was more than half a century ago . . . away back in 1920, and the second time was 1939—the year war broke out.

The FA Cup final of season 1919-20 was played at Stamford Bridge, and Liverpool had hopes of going all the way for a time, because we saw off South Shields, Luton Town and Birmingham City. After drawing 1-1 at South Shields, we won the replay 2-0 here, then went to Luton and won there by a similar margin. Next it was back to Anfield for a 2-0 victory over Birmingham—but Huddersfield Town stopped us in our tracks as they beat us by the odd goal in three on their own ground. Town went on to meet Aston Villa at Stamford Bridge, where they lost 1-0.

In 1939, Wembley was the goal for every club starting out in the competition, and Luton Town provided the first obstacle in our path. The game was played at Anfield, and three goals were enough for us to see off the Hatters, after which we demolished Stockport County here, 5-1. But that turned out to be the end of the Wembley road, so far as Liverpool were concerned, because Wolves beat us 4-1 on their own ground. Oddly enough, just as Huddersfield had done, they went all the way to the final, only to fall to Portsmouth, who scored a 4-1 victory.

Luton's visions of a Wembley appearance did not start to take shape until well into the 1950's—in fact, it was season 1958-59 before they first achieved their goal. Even so, we had fared little better, because we were still waiting to win the trophy, after two final appearances—the first at Crystal Palace in 1914, the second at Wembley in 1950.

When Luton went all the way, they found themselves involved in a final of real drama, and the hero of the day turned out to be a player wearing the colours of the opposition. Forest's survival under such circumstances was tailor-made for the headline writers, of course, and tended to overshadow Luton's ham Forest—who, in that final, managed to beat the odds.

FOCUS ON THE F.A. CUP

The scoreline shows that Forest won the FA Cup by the odd goal in three. The scorers for Forest were Dwight and Wilson, and for Luton Town Pacey.

In fact, Forest lost marksman Dwight with a broken leg, and so they had to battle it out with 10 men, because substitutes had not yet arrived on the Soccer scene. Forest's survival under such circumstances was tailor-made for the headline writers, of course, and tended to overshadow Luton's contribution to the final, but there is no doubt that it was one of the most dramatic on record.

Among the players on view that day were wing-half Jeff Whitefoot, who played for Manchester United, as well as Forest; Syd Owen, of Luton, who later became a key man in Don Revie's back-room team at Leeds; and Allan Brown who, as a Blackpool player, had missed out on the "Stanley Matthews" final of 1953 after having been injured just before the Wembley showgame.

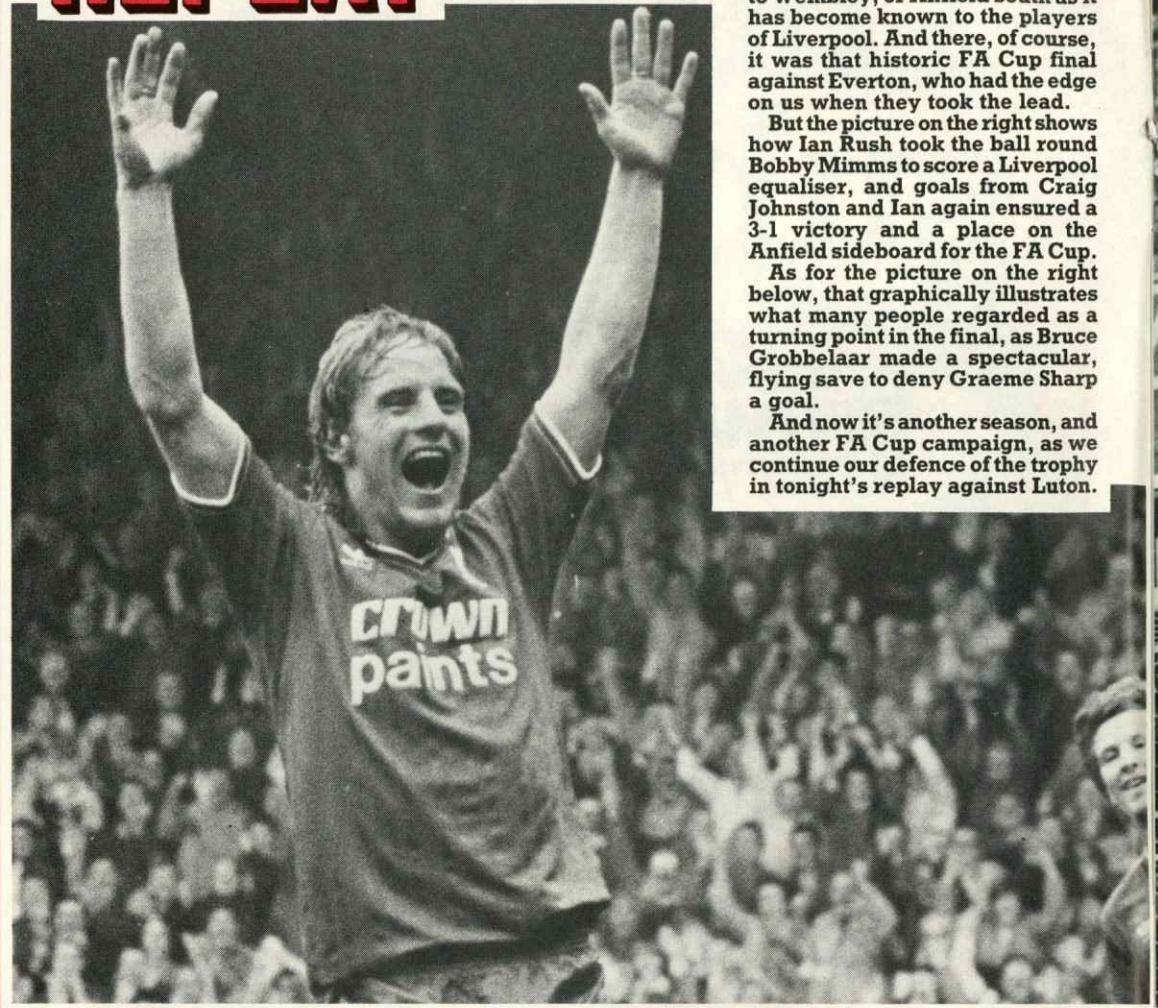

LIVERPOOL and Manchester United extended their own seasonal gestures of goodwill to show that the spirit of rivalry is also friendly, when the teams met at Anfield on Boxing Day. Liverpool mascot Peter Grimes, from Litherland, led out the United side, and United mascot Philip Darbyshire, from Flixton, led out the Liverpool players. And here they're pictured with Alan Hansen and Bryan Robson.

ACTION REPLAY

THIS IS where we left off last season... against Luton Town in the League at Anfield, and against Everton in the FA Cup at Wembley. There were five goals in the game against Luton, and Liverpool scored three of them—and the first two came from former Luton striker Paul Walsh. Not surprising, then, that he's looking so cheerful here, after hitting his second to give us a 2-0 lead at half-time.

On the opposite page the scene switches from Anfield to Wembley, or Anfield South as it has become known to the players of Liverpool. And there, of course, it was that historic FA Cup final against Everton, who had the edge on us when they took the lead.

But the picture on the right shows how Ian Rush took the ball round Bobby Mimms to score a Liverpool equaliser, and goals from Craig Johnston and Ian again ensured a 3-1 victory and a place on the Anfield sideboard for the FA Cup.

As for the picture on the right below, that graphically illustrates what many people regarded as a turning point in the final, as Bruce Grobbelaar made a spectacular, flying save to deny Graeme Sharp a goal.

And now it's another season, and another FA Cup campaign, as we continue our defence of the trophy in tonight's replay against Luton.

THE game has always thrown up personalities, and many of them have made their names as LEGISLATORS. Liverpool have had their share of top-class legislators through the years, starting with Alderman John Houlding, a former Lord Mayor of Liverpool, who was the first chairman.

Another of the great figures of the past was "Honest John" McKenna, Football League president for 26 years and a vice-president of the Football Association. He had two spells as Liverpool chairman (from 1909 to 1914, and from 1917 to 1919). He was instrumental in defeating a proposal for a two-referee system.

Another brilliant legislator who had two terms of office as chairman at Anfield was William J. Harrop. He was the first Liverpool director to become a member of the League management committee since John McKenna, and at the time of his death he was a senior vice-president of the League.

W. H. "Billy" McConnell also played a major role in the affairs of this club, and Thomas Valentine Williams was another whose role cannot be over-emphasised. He became a member of the FA Council and the FA international committee, and in 1962 he was elected Liverpool's first life president.

Today, of course, Liverpool's chairman is Mr. John W. Smith, and apart from having held sway during the greatest years in the club's history he has served on the management committee of the Football League and is currently the chairman of the Sports Council.

BILLY LIDDELL . . . One of the all-time greats, not just for Liverpool, but in British football. And he would command a first-team place today, even though the game has changed so much, tactically. Like Preston's Tom Finney, Billy Liddell—dubbed The Flying Scot—could play in virtually any front-line position, though it was as a marauding left-winger that he most often figured as a destroyer of defenders as he cut inside the full-back and carried on before unleashing a piledriver with that deadly right foot.

Billy joined Liverpool at the age of 16, recovered from a leg injury which, it seemed, might end his career almost before it had started, and made his mark during the war. He did not make his League debut until 1946, by which time he was 24, but he went on to total 492 League games between 1946 and 1960, plus 40 FA Cup-ties in succession.

player who arrived at Anfield as a teenage signing from Lochgelly Violet.

Billy scored on his debut for Scotland, against England, in 1942—he was still in his teens then—and he scored 10 goals altogether during his international career.

One of the most famous incidents during his club career occurred when Liverpool met Manchester City at Anfield in a fifth-round FA Cup replay, in 1956. City led 2-1 with only seconds to go—then Liddell raced on to the ball on the half-way line, sprinted down the wing and cut inside to send a fierce drive past 'keeper Bert Trautmann . . . but the referee had blown for time.

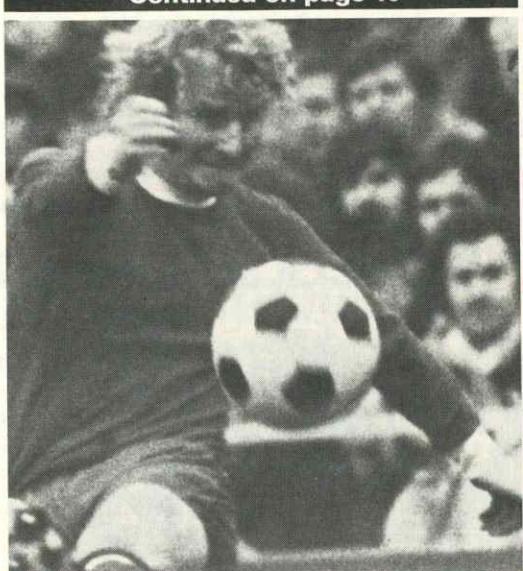

On September 21, 1960, Trautmann was in goal again—this time for an international side which provided the opposition to Liverpool in Billy Liddell's testimonial match. More than 38,700 fans turned up.

ALEC LINDSAY . . . one of several players groomed for stardom by Bury, his home-town club—indeed, he helped Bury to gain promotion to the Second Division shortly before he was signed by Liverpool. It was in March, 1969, that he arrived as a £67,000 buy from the Gigg Lane club. He was then 21 years old, and regarded as a wing-half or an inside forward.

Bill Shankly converted this former England youth international into a left-back who became a first-team regular, and he packed a shot like a mule in his left foot, while his ability to make an accurate pass with that left "peg" became a by-word.

Alec (pictured below) had topped the century mark for League appearances with Bury, and with Liverpool he totalled close on 250 games. In season 1972-73 he collected medals in the League championship and the UEFA Cup, and in 1974 he added an FA Cup-winner's medal to his collection. Capped four times by England, he eventually moved to Stoke City.

LARRY LLOYD . . . This strapping centre-half, signed as a 20-year-old from Bristol Rovers, arrived at Anfield a few weeks after Alec Lindsay, and he proved himself a worthy successor to big Ron Yeats at the heart of the Liverpool defence. A £50,000 signing, Larry amply repaid the transfer fee, and he became an England international.

Standing 6ft. 2in. tall, Larry Lloyd got the better of most opponents in aerial duels, and he was not without ability to play football on the deck, either. He had played only 43 games for Bristol Rovers when Liverpool snapped him up, and in season 1972-73, when we won the League title and the UEFA Cup, he was an ever-present.

In 1974 he left Liverpool for Coventry City, then moved on again, to Nottingham Forest—and under Brian Clough he enjoyed more success, both in the League and in the European Cup. Capped three times by England while a Liverpool player, he added another cap while with Forest. And later he achieved success as a manager with Wigan Athletic.

ONE-TIME Liverpool star Larry Lloyd in action for Nottingham Forest, as he challenges Kenny Dalglish in a duel for possession.

CLIFF LLOYD . . . A player who had a relatively brief spell with Liverpool—he was a half-back, but after only a couple of seasons he moved on, to Wrexham and Fulham. It was as a legislator that he made his name, for he became secretary of the Professional Footballers Association in 1953, and during his long term of office helped to bring about many changes which improved the status of the players.

EPHRAIM LONGWORTH . . . He became the first Liverpool player to captain England—that was in an international against Belgium in Brussels, in 1921, and it was the second of five games he played for his country. The first, against Scotland at Hillsborough in the previous year, was one of the greatest internationals of all time, as England came back from being 4-2 down to beat the Scots by the odd goal in nine.

"Eph" was born near Bolton, but played for Leyton, in the Southern League, before he was signed by Liverpool in 1910. He remained a player for us until 1928, and was a key figure in our title-winning teams of seasons 1921-22 and 1922-23.

Despite bad luck with injuries he totalled more than 340 League games, and he and Donald McKinlay, the Scottish international, were together at Anfield for 18 years—an all-time record for any League pairing of full-backs. And after his playing days had ended, "Eph" stayed on at Anfield, working on the ground staff and in other roles.

NORMAN LOW . . . A tall and commanding centre-half, he was the son of a Newcastle footballer, and he joined Liverpool as a teenager, understudying "Tiny" Bradshaw. Later, Norman skippered Newport County to promotion, then he was manager of Norwich City and Port Vale. He also served Liverpool as a scout.

TOMMY LUCAS . . . One of four international full-backs who were on Liverpool's books at the same time—they were Lucas and Longworth (England), McKinlay (Scotland) and Ted Parry (Wales). Tommy Lucas, however, was versatile enough to play in several positions for us between 1919 and 1933, and he totalled more than 340 League appearances. Tommy won a championship medal in season 1921-22.

We could all tackle one of these~

THE YEARS BETWEEN

TEN YEARS AGO, as now, Liverpool were still waiting to make progress in the third round of the FA Cup, because after a 2-0 victory over Sunderland in the League at Anfield, we couldn't get the better of Crystal Palace here in the competition which leads to Wembley. And Palace at that time were down in the Third Division, while we were topping the First.

Palace came to Anfield and held us to a scoreless draw, and there were one or two other eyebrow-raising results that FA Cup day, as Cardiff City, for instance, put the skids under Spurs at Ninian Park. Cardiff were in Division 2 then, as were Luton Town, who were down in 14th position . . . but that didn't prevent them from going to The Shay and beating Halifax 1-0 to go through to the fourth round.

Manchester United only just beat Walsall—1-0—at Old Trafford that day, and homespun Northwich were giving Watford a hard time of it by winning 3-2. Chester went to Southend and scored a rousing, 4-0 victory, while Wrexham shared four goals with Sunderland at Roker Park.

One week later, and it was back to the bread and butter of the League, with Liverpool again ending up on level terms with the opposition—this time, a 1-1 draw against West Brom at Anfield, while Luton's League match against Hull City at Kenilworth Road was one of 10 in the top two divisions that went by the board. West Brom, in fact, scored with eight minutes to go, but six minutes from time David Fairclough produced a point-saver for us.

YEARS AGO

on home ground, and it was a First Division match against Wolves. Goals from Kenny Dalglish and Ronnie Whelan enabled us to come up with a 2-1 victory.

Luton Town then were in the Second Division, and after seeing out the old year with a 3-1 win over Norwich City at Carrow Road to maintain their status as leaders in their division, they knocked out Swindon Town with a 2-1 win in the third round of the FA Cup.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO, Liverpool were going into the third round of the FA Cup wondering if their fortunes were to change for the better, because we had followed a scoreless draw at home against Tottenham Hotspur by losing three matches on the trot . . . against West Brom away, Leeds United at Anfield, and Leicester City at Filbert Street. And those four games had failed to yield even a solitary goal for us.

So the rest of football looked at Liverpool and asked the question: could we go to Oxford and halt the run of defeats, as we started on the trail of the FA Cup?—What made the tie even more tricky was the fact that Oxford, as under-dogs from the Second Division, had everything to gain and nothing to lose. True, they had lost 2-0 at home on New Year's Day against Norwich City, but they had bounced back the following week by going to Turf Moor and holding Burnley to a 1-1 draw.

On the day, however, it all came right for Liverpool as we scored three goals without reply—though after that, we failed to cash in as we were knocked out in the fourth round by Leeds United, when they took us to Elland Road for a replay.

Liverpool's team still had three ever-presents—Ray Clemence, Emlyn Hughes and Steve Heighway—but with Larry Lloyd out of action the No. 5 jersey had gone to Ian Ross, who wore it in nine successive matches—in fact, that season he had started off in the No. 12 shirt, switched to No. 4, then No. 3, then No. 7, No. 5 and, finally, No. 8 as he made 21 appearances.

His travels have taken him from Sunderland to Lincoln, on to Newcastle, Bristol and Birmingham and, finally, to Luton. Twice in his career he has wondered if he would ever become recognised as a top-class footballer . . . yet only a few months ago he was in the running for a place in England's World Cup squad in Mexico, though he just missed out, in the end.

Last season, he really hit scoring form for Luton as he hammered home 25 goals . . . this season he's had to make a comeback, after injury — so he's aiming to make up for quite a bit of lost time. His name? — Mick Harford.

In his younger days, back in his native Sunderland, he went to Roker Park for a trial, but after a week's training that was it. Sunderland didn't offer him a contract, and he decided that his career from then on would be in plumbing.

He worked for his brother-in-law, played football for the local Lambton Street Boys Club team . . . and suddenly, at the age of 18, he was being offered the chance to join Lincoln City, who were then in the Fourth Division and managed by Graham Taylor.

Lincoln signed Mick as a midfield player, and George Kerr, who succeeded Graham Taylor, converted the youngster into a striker whose progress soon had Newcastle United stepping in to fork out a £160,000 fee and take him back to his native North-East.

But once again, things didn't work out as Mick Harford had hoped. He scored only four goals as he played in 18 matches, and Newcastle virtually got their money back as they sold him to Bristol City for £150,000. Mick himself admitted that he didn't do himself justice during his brief stay at St. James's Park, though "I was desperate to do well in front of the North-East people."

However, when Bristol City ran into financial problems, they transferred Mick Harford to Birmingham, who paid £120,000, and there Birkenhead-born Ron Saunders — himself a one-time plunderer of goals — honed the Harford talents. Like this: "He tried to get me to jump early, the way Graeme Sharp does so well for Everton, and that's something I've worked on."

He worked on it so well that David Pleat, then Luton

Town's manager, decided he was worth quarter of a million pounds — a club-record fee — and so Mick landed at Kenilworth Road.

LUTON TOWN have made a habit of delving into the lower divisions for recruits to their playing staff, and the past year or so has been no exception, with three men—Mike Newell, Robert Wilson and Darron McDonough—coming from clubs in the Second and Third divisions.

Newell, an England Under-21 international, arrived mid-way through last season from Wigan Athletic, and when Mick Harford was injured he seized the chance to show what he could do, scoring half a dozen League goals. On a pre-season tour of Sweden he hit two hat-tricks, and he was a hat-trick man again in the First Division victory over us, then scored the match-winner against Everton. All this from a player who's been a lifelong supporter of Liverpool...

Wilson served under Ray Harford for five years at Fulham, and was subsequently transferred to Millwall; but when Luton's injury crisis posed problems in the midfield department at the start of the season they snapped up Wilson for a £40,000 fee, and within days he was making his debut.

McDonough, groomed through the ranks at Oldham, has played in the middle of the back-four line, in midfield and in the front-line, and he has packed close on 200 League games into his career, though he is still only 23. He was an £80,000 signing by Luton.

Injury has dogged the footsteps of Andy Dibble, a Welsh international who had a brief spell on loan to Sunderland last season, and though he started the previous two seasons as Luton's first-choice 'keeper, this time out he has had to play the waiting game as Les Sealey has nailed down a regular place. Dibble was a £125,000 signing from Cardiff City, Sealey came from Coventry City.

The No. 2 jersey is likely to go to Tim Breacker, who made his senior debut against Ipswich Town in season 1983-84 and he went on to become an England Under-21 international, while Rob Johnson, who has been a rival to Breacker for the right-back spot, could play on the opposite flank.

The central defenders will probably be Steve Foster and Mal Donagh—the former has played for England, the latter for Northern Ireland, and between them they have tremendous experience. Foster played for Brighton in the FA Cup final against Manchester United, had an unhappy spell with Aston Villa but saw his career blossom again after his transfer to Kenilworth Road.

Donagh, capped on almost 50 occasions, went to Mexico for the World Cup and has been mainly an ever-present at Luton since he was signed from Larne in 1978.

There could be a spot for McDonough in midfield, though Luton have plenty of candidates for this department, and they include England-international Ricky Hill, Welsh-international Peter Nicholas, Republic of Ireland-international Ashley Grimes, and Robert Wilson.

Hill has been with the club for more than 10 years, and for many of those years he has been an automatic choice, barring injury; Nicholas was signed from Second Division Crystal Palace, where he was playing for the second time around after a move to Arsenal had failed to work out; Grimes, formerly with Manchester United and Coventry City, saw his career at Luton Town revived after a proposed transfer to Swindon.

Town had failed to materialise.

There is also another candidate for the left side of midfield in David Preece, a £150,000 signing from Walsall, and he became a fixture last season, though this term he has been out through injury, as has Mick Harford, until recently.

Luton have two brothers—Brian and Mark Stein—in their squad, and the former has played for England while the latter has made impressive progress recently, after a spell on loan with Aldershot last season. Brian is in his 10th season with the club and his younger brother joined Luton in 1982.

Luton's senior squad is completed by Marc North, Stacey North, Emeka Nwajiobi and Ricky McEvoy, who was the only player without first-team experience to make the pre-season tour to Sweden.

MEET THE MANAGER

WHEN David Pleat vacated the managerial chair at Kenilworth Road to take charge at Tottenham Hotspur, there was plenty of speculation as to who would be appointed as his successor, and several names were canvassed. But when Luton Town made their choice, it fell upon a man who was already on the backroom staff . . . and John Moore, a Scot, became the Hatters' new manager 21 years after having first arrived at the club as a left-half.

Signed originally from Motherwell, he made more than 260 first-team appearances for Luton between 1965 and 1974, and was one of the key figures in Town's promotion teams of 1968 and 1970. Later, he completed his playing career with spells at Brighton and Northampton Town, then went into management as the team boss of Dunstable Town. In 1978 he returned to Kenilworth Road as youth-team coach, then became manager of the reserve side.

One of John Moore's first moves was to appoint Ray Harford as first-team coach, after the latter had impressed during a two-year stint as manager of Fulham, where he had had to operate under difficult financial circumstances. Ray, a former centre-half who played professional football for a dozen years, had served half a dozen clubs before moving onto the coaching side with Colchester United. He arrived at Craven Cottage as youth-team coach, swiftly stepped up to become first-team coach, and finally was appointed manager.

Now he and John Moore are relishing the challenge of their first season in charge of a team in Division 1, and Luton's results in the Today League this season have kept them on the heels of the more familiar championship contenders.

On their own Kenilworth Road ground, with its artificial surface, Luton have scored victories over us, Everton and Forest, and drawn against Arsenal. Tonight, however, Luton's management team and their players face probably their sternest task of the season to date, as they try conclusions with Liverpool in the FA Cup for the first time at Anfield in 48 years.

HE'S HEADING FOR HOME!

JOHN ALDRIDGE jumped at the chance to join Liverpool and come back home to Merseyside . . . and he's aiming to show that he can maintain his record as a consistent marksman, no matter whom the opposition may be. The player who grew up in Garston has scored goals—including hat-tricks—in all four divisions of the League and, indeed, this season he has twice hit three goals in a game . . . against Gillingham, in the Littlewoods Cup, and against Luton Town in the Today League.

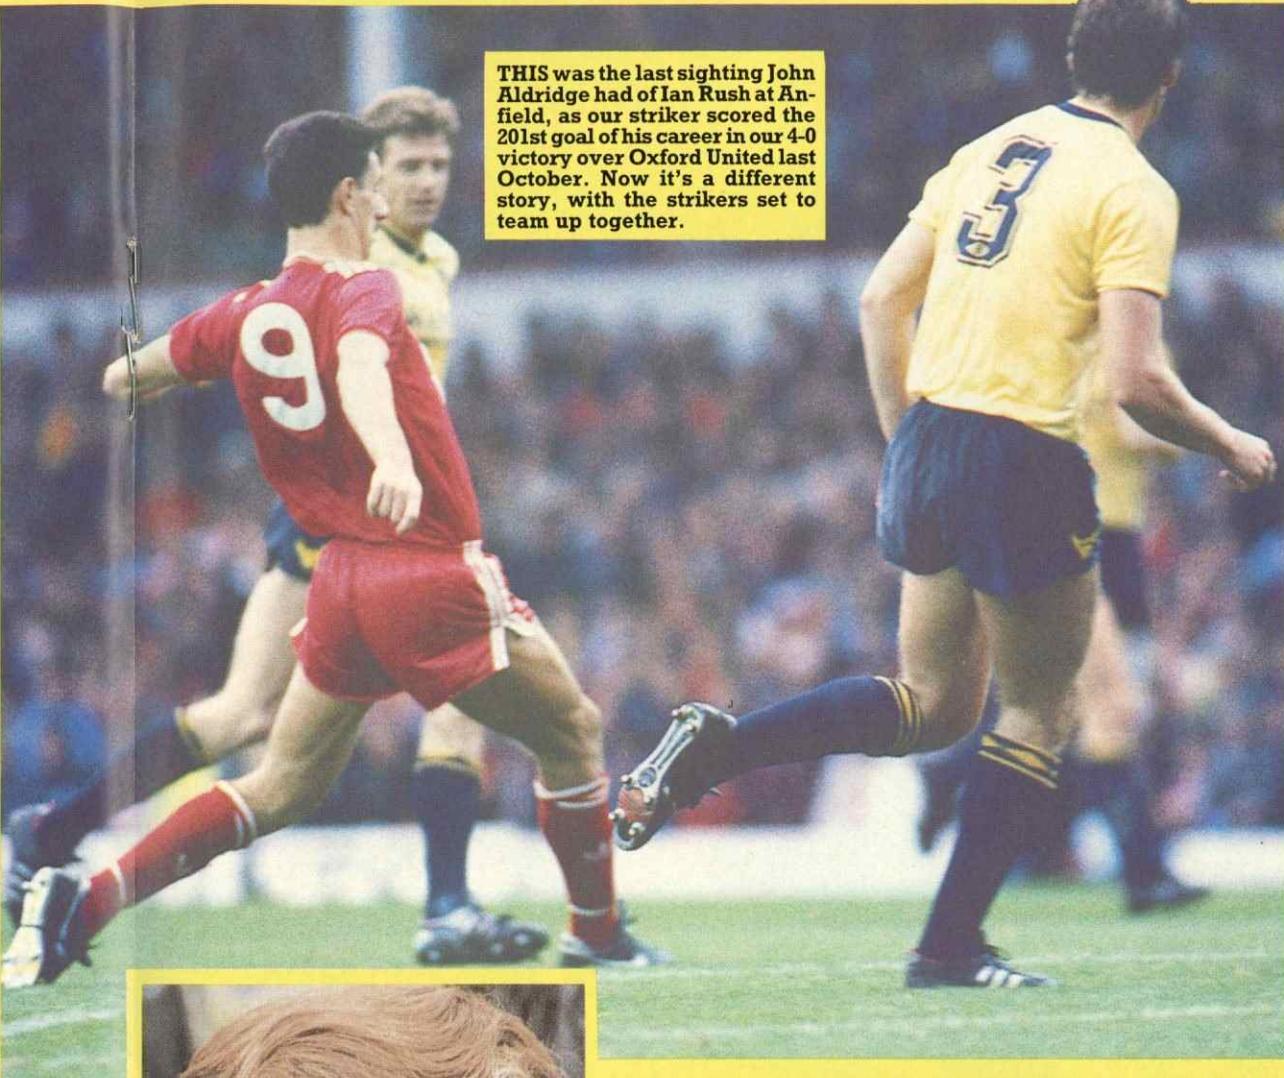

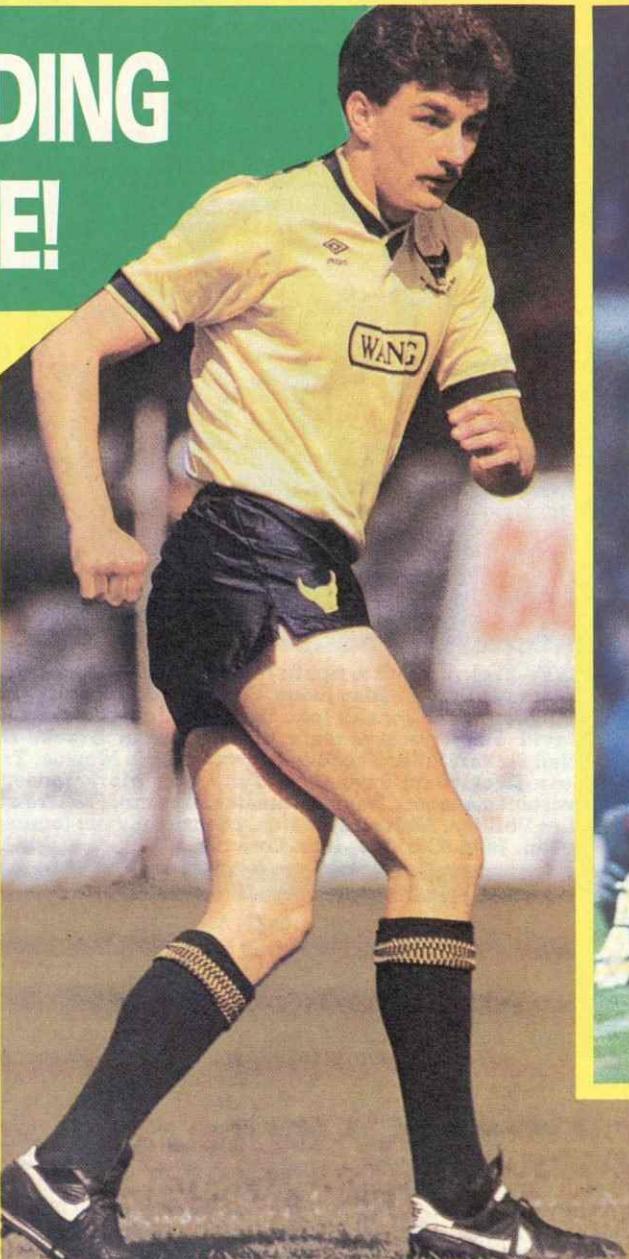

He can also take penalties, as his goals against five clubs this season demonstrate, and he has taken his tally this time out to a score of goals so far, as he has found the net against Aston Villa (twice), Southampton, Norwich City, Nottingham Forest, Manchester United, Sheffield Wednesday, Coventry City, Charlton Athletic, Wimbledon, Luton Town and, in the Littlewoods Cup, Gillingham (four goals) and Sheffield United.

John did not become a professional until he had served his apprenticeship as a toolmaker at a Leyland car factory at Speke. His boyhood idol was Roger Hunt; on Saturdays and Sundays he played football for two different local sides; then he joined South Liverpool, in the Northern Premier League.

It was workmate Robin Ashurst who told brother Len—then managing Newport in the Fourth Division—about the South Liverpool marksman, and after seeing John hit a hat-trick against Frickley Colliery the Newport boss offered him a career in the professional game. He helped Newport win the Welsh Cup and promotion to Division 3.

Len Ashurst became manager of Sunderland, and might well have signed John again, but the fee proved a stumbling block, and then Oxford United—at the time, a Third Division club—came in for him. In fewer than half a dozen seasons with Newport he had hit 81 League and Cup goals, and he was on the mark four times in his first eight matches for Oxford.

By the end of his first full season at the Manor Ground he had totalled 34 goals in League and Cup to break a club record, set by Steve Biggins, by 10 goals; and in his first season in the First Division John scored 31 goals, including 23 in the League—which made him the third-highest scorer, behind Gary Lineker and Frank McAvennie. This time out, he has carried on scoring goals.

THIS was the last sighting John Aldridge had of Ian Rush at Anfield, as our striker scored the 201st goal of his career in our 4-0 victory over Oxford United last October. Now it's a different story, with the strikers set to team up together.

'A DREAM COME TRUE'

OXFORD manager Maurice Evans (left) tried to sign John Aldridge before he moved to the Manor Ground. "I was team boss at Reading, and wanted to pair him with Kerry Dixon—that would have been some partnership. I spoke to John when he was on freedom of contract at Newport, but he didn't want to move to Reading.

"After I'd gone to work at Oxford, the first job their manager, Jim Smith, asked me to do was watch John, who was still at Newport. I did—and after the second time I told Jim that if it were up to me, I'd sign him straight away. Jim signed him, and the lad never looked back.

"For me, he's the best finisher in English football, bar Ian Rush—and I've had Kerry Dixon and Trevor Senior playing for me, remember. In many ways John is similar to Ian Rush—he's scored goals at all levels, seems to sniff out the chances, and is prepared to miss some so long as he gets in the right positions. He's also very good in the air.

"The move for John is like a schoolboy's dream come true—when I told him Liverpool had been on about him, he could hardly speak. And I believe that he has the ability to do well at Anfield. He's shown that he can score goals in the top flight, and he should benefit from the quality of the players around him at Liverpool."

FOUR super-fans had their own special moment before Liverpool and Manchester United kicked off at Anfield. They walked out with the referee and linesmen and exchanged pennants in the centre circle when the team captains tossed for choice of ends. The Liverpool super-fans were Mrs. Valerie Gould, from Childwall, and Mr. Joe Bradshaw, from Alder Meadow, Croxteth Park Estate. The United super-fans were Mr. Neil Lewis, from Manchester, and Mr. Dennis Alderson, from Cumbria. And here they're pictured with the match officials.

ACTION from the Today League game against Manchester United at Anfield, and Liverpool's Mark Lawrenson is the winner in this tussle with Peter Davenport, as Mark wrong-foots the United striker to come away with the ball.

LIVERPOOL are supported by people who live all over the country, and many of them make regular visits to matches at Anfield, as well as following the team to away games. One of the most active branches of the Supporters Club is located in Dublin, and recently some of the members travelled across the water to see Liverpool in action.

"She has been the branch secretary for two years now, and she's doing a fantastic job... we could never repay her for all the work she has put in, organising outings and junior trips, and this tribute to her is just a small token of our appreciation." "We, too, appreciate the work that goes into organising trips for supporters to Anfield, and the players also appreciate the backing they get from fans who often make sacrifices so that they can travel to cheer Liverpool on. And if anyone in the Dublin area is interested in becoming a member of that branch, we can put them in touch.

EXACTLY 76 years ago today, Liverpool were involved in FA Cup action at Anfield, and the opposition was provided by Gainsborough Trinity, who were trying their luck against us for the first time in the competition.

Gainsborough Trinity had been in the Second Division since season 1896-97, and they came to Anfield as the Cup under-dogs... which prompted the programme editor of the time to issue this warning to Liverpool: "The men from the banks of the Trent have nothing to lose; if beaten, everyone could only say that this was what they had expected.

"But on the other hand, the Second Leaguers have everything to gain, and if they can avert defeat at any cost they will be more than satisfied.

"In Cup-tie tussles it is not safe to rely upon comparative reputations of clubs. No competition produces so many surprising verdicts as the one which starts this afternoon, and in the past we have been treated to some of the most unexpected downfalls on the part of highly-fancied organisations.

"Knowing this full well, we cannot imagine the Reds being guilty of any error of judgement in this respect, and we anticipate an easy victory for them."

In fact, the game produced five goals... and Liverpool got through by the odd one, to meet Everton, who had survived a tie against Crystal Palace. But at Goodison Park we made our exit from the Cup, as Everton won 2-1.

DURING the course of a century, Luton Town have played more than 270 FA Cup matches, and there have been some names to conjure with, among their opponents, starting with Great Marlow the first time out, in season 1885-86, when the Hatters lost 3-0 away.

REPORTING

NOT for the first time, I would like to express our appreciation of the backing given to us by supporters, and on this occasion I refer to the revised competition which sees the Treble replaced by the Draw.

We wrote to each of the applicants to explain the situation, and it was extremely gratifying to find that only one person wished to drop out, out of several thousand participants.

Your loyalty is never taken for granted—but it is certainly very much appreciated!

As events have turned out, it seems that the new Draw competition will prove to be a winner, for we have had letters expressing the satisfaction of supporters concerning this revised competition, which consists of a monthly Draw for January, February, March and April.

The top prize money each month will be £500, and there will be four other prizes of £100 each. The prize Draw will be made on the pitch at half-time, and these are the dates of the draws: January 24—the game against Newcastle United; February 28—the game against Southampton; March 28—the game against Wimbledon; April 25—the game against Everton.

The names and addresses of the various winners will be announced at the games and published in the Anfield

Review, and the winners will also be notified by post—just in case, for some reason or other,

they cannot be at the match.

There's still time for YOU to become a participant in one of the monthly Draws, of course, and if you're interested all you have to do is contact the Development Association

RESERVE REPORT

LIVERPOOL reserves have just passed the half-way mark in the season, and they remain in contention for the championship of the Central League—they're up there with the likes of Manchester United, Everton, Coventry City and Derby County, and if the second half follows the pattern of the first, the leadership will change hands several times again before the title contest is settled.

Liverpool came to the turn of the year with a record of 10 victories and two draws from 16 games, and began 1987 with a 3-0 away win over Blackburn Rovers. On home ground we have been virtually invincible, with only Everton scoring a win, while on tour we have achieved some notable victories, scoring half a dozen goals against Sheffield United and Leeds United.

Twice—at Villa Park and at Coventry—we have suffered narrow defeats, going down by the odd goal in seven, but shortly we shall have the chance to avenge that defeat by Villa, while Coventry will be our final visitors of the season.

Meantime, we have called upon more than a score of players, with Ian Fairbrother being the only ever-present and John Durnin our leading marksman, having taken his tally into double figures.

Our latest signing, Alan Irvine, didn't take long to get a taste of first-team football, while other players to sample Soccer at senior level this season have been John Durnin, Brian Mooney and Gary Ablett.

THERE'S a hint of desperation about the Manchester United defence as Ian Rush and Ronnie Whelan cause some problems . . . but at the end of it all the men from Old Trafford were able to breathe easily again as they prevented Liverpool from getting a goal.

THE expression on the face of Kenny Dalglish just about says it all, as Liverpool see yet another attacking foray end with the ball going wide of the Manchester United goal.

TESTING TIME for Manchester United's rookie goalkeeper, Gary Walsh, and as he was called into the action he did well to save a fierce drive from Jan Molby.

THERE'S no way past for Kenny Dalglish, as Manchester United skipper Bryan Robson—playing a key role in the middle of the back-four line—bars the way, with other United defenders on the alert, just in case. Pictures by Terry Mealey.

TONIGHT'S delayed third-round replay against Luton Town is one of many matches which, because of the recent bad weather, made the draw for the fourth round of the FA Cup very much a matter of ifs and buts. In fact, only five games were clear-cut when the draw was made.

These were: Manchester United v. Coventry City; Wimbledon v. Portsmouth; Tottenham Hotspur v. Crystal Palace; Walsall v. Birmingham City; and Swindon Town v. Leeds United.

There were no fewer than 26 permutations, so far as the other ties were concerned, with Everton waiting to see if they travelled to Oldham or Bradford, Chester City awaiting Sheffield Wednesday or Derby County, Arsenal wondering if they would meet Bristol City or Plymouth Argyle, Watford waiting for Aston Villa or Chelsea, and Swansea City anticipating a meeting with Shrewsbury Town or Hull City. Now Everton know it's Bradford, while Arsenal take on Plymouth.

And, of course, Liverpool are hoping that after tonight it will be a case of going on to meet Queen's Park Rangers here in the fourth round next Saturday. The London club came from behind to knock out Leicester City at Loftus Road.
